

Dr. Georgia Koulermou is a plastic surgeon and is active in the private sector. She is a certified cosmetic and reconstructive surgeon, with a particular interest in breast surgery and breast reconstruction, malignant melanoma and burn disease.

She has graduated from the Medical School of University of Athens, from where she performed her surgical training specializing in plastic surgery. In addition, she was awarded her doctorate in medicine from University of Athens, with the title of “Epidemiological study of skin melanoma in Greece”. In 1993, with her specialization in plastic surgery, she returned to Cyprus, and worked at the Plastic Surgery Department of “Archbishop Makarios” Hospital, Nicosia. From 1996 and onwards she became the director of the Plastic Surgery Clinic and Burns Unit of the “Archbishop Makarios” Hospital, Nicosia, a position that she undertook until November of 2017. Since then she is active as a Plastic Surgeon at the private sector.

She is a visiting Plastic Surgery lecturer at the Medical School of University of Nicosia. In addition, she was a clinical collaborator at the Medical School of university of Cyprus, from its establishment until 2017. Furthermore, she is a visiting Plastic Surgery Professor at the postgraduate program of Frederick University.

She has more than 300 published articles at international magazines and lectures as an invited speaker at conferences.

She has presented a vast number of clinical and research work that pertains to burn disease and breast reconstruction after mastectomy and skin melanoma.

- The psychological impact on people who have experience burn trauma - Scientific study between the Department of Psychology, University of Cyprus (Dr. Stelios Georgiades, Programme Head) and the Department of Plastic Surgery, Microsurgery and Burns, Makarios III Hospital (Dr. Georgia Koulermou, Head of Department).
- “BURNET” - An EUMEDIS Pilot Project of the European Commission
- “EUROCLEFT - Standards of Care for Cleft Lip and Palate in Europe” - A Concerted Action Project of the European Commission
- “Enteral nutrition in burns” - COMET European Union Programme; Duration three years
- “Measurement of the width of scar using the ultrasound technique” - Plastic Surgery and Microsurgery Clinic, and Ultrasound Department of General Hospital of Athens, Athens, Greece,
- “The application of the CO₂ method in Nerve Anastomosis” - Research Department of Plastic Surgery and Microsurgery Clinic, General Hospital of Athens, Athens, Greece,
- “Common Mediterranean Protocol for the prevention, the treatment of malignant melanoma” - Common project in Italy, France, Denmark, and Greece
- EUROCLEFT - Standards of Care for Cleft Lip and Palate in Europe A Concerted Action Project of the European Commission

She has consistently been awarded for her scientific work from the Greek Surgical Association, Memorial Hospital and the Greek Association of Wounds.

Moreover, she has a specialization in breast surgery and reconstruction after mastectomy, with continual specializations and scholarships abroad.

Finally, she the writer of the book with title “ Clinical differential diagnosis of cutaneous melanoma”, published by εν τύποις 2017.